

Moving your conference to online

Why and how?

Big organizations can't be managed without intense interaction. Going virtual systematically can be an answer.

Triggered by circumstances related to:

- serious health care issues
- cost saving
- an environmental agenda

Even without physical social interaction, your teams can still effectively engage - given you have the right tools at hand.

We can offer the relevant answer today for an online conference, offering everyone the chance to make his/her voice heard.

What we offer is a clever group chat solution, efficient and engaging (like a virtual round table).

To gather:

- feedback
- co-create solutions
- alignment and ownership
- giving meaning
- identifying implications

It can easily be connected to standard web conferencing tools and accommodate up to 1000 participants.

Customer

Moving your conference to online

What is so special?

It works from any location: participants only need PC/Laptop or tablet and an internet connection.

It allows participation with up to 1000 participants in real-time.

Identifies the best feedback ranked by the participants.

You can get supported by a team of seasoned experts in 15 languages worldwide.

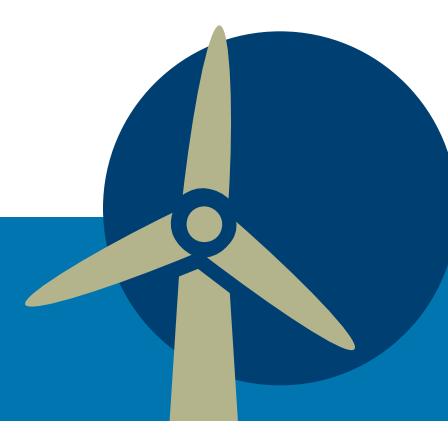

Examples

An online learning platform for a pharma company: 5 one-hour interactive sessions for EMEA staff.

A multinational launching the new strategy in an interactive global workshop.

An energy company that, due to a travel ban, could engage all staff virtually.

An Italian FMCG replaced their roadshow by an online conference.